

What Can You Do with a Biology Degree?

Most students entering college believe that the only reason to major in biology is to go to medical or veterinary school. Nothing could be further from the truth! There is an incredible diversity of career paths to choose from with an undergraduate background as a biology major. The following are lists of possible job titles, possible private sector employers, and possible government agencies available to a person with a biology degree. None of the lists are all encompassing.

Job Titles

Air-pollution Analyst	Anatomist	Animal Ecologist	Animal Scientist
Biochemist	Biological Photographer	Biologist	Biomedical Engineer
Biophysicist	Botanist	Chiropractor	Criminologist
Curator	Curator/Medical Museum	Curator/Zoological Museum	Cytologist
Cytotechnologists	Dentist	Dietitian	Dietitian/Research
Editor (scientific and technical publications)	Entomologist	Environmental Analyst	Environmental Scientist
Food-and-Drugs Inspector	Forensic Pathologist	Forester	Geneticist
Histopathologist	Hospital Administrator	Hydrologist	Industrial Hygienist
Information Scientist	Laboratory Assistant	Lawyer	Marine Biologist
Medical Illustrator	Medical Librarian	Medical Technologist	Microbiologist
Museum Technician	Mycologist	Nematologist	Nuclear Medical Technologist
Occupational Health and Safety Inspector	Oceanographer	Optometrist	Osteopath
Parasitologist	Pathologist	Pharmaceutical Detailer	Pharmacist
Pharmacologist	Physical Therapist	Physician	Plant Pathologist
Plant Physiologist	Podiatrist	Psychologist	Public Health Educator
Safety Inspector	Safety Manager	Sales Representative (chemicals and drugs)	Sanitarian
Social Worker	Soil Scientist	Taxidermist	Teacher/College
Teacher/High School	Veterinarian	Veterinarian/Laboratory Animal Care	Writer/Scientific, Technical Zoologist			