Summary

When you don't have much work experience as a recent grad, a strong summary statement can help add valuable context to your application. Compile 4-5 sentences that describe "WHAT" and "WHO" you are. Integrate Key Skills from the job description here.

Licenses/Certifications

License (MM/YYYY)-(MM/YYYY)

Education

Degree, Graduation Year, GPA 3.0-4.0
College Name, Location

Clinical Experience

Company 2, Location
Job Title (MM/YYYY)-(MM/YYYY)

- If you have industry-specific internships or work experience right out of college, consider separating it into its own section. Some applicant tracking systems might have trouble parsing this, but it will help recruiters home in on your most relevant experience.

Company 1, Location
Job Title (MM/YYYY)-(MM/YYYY)

- Take extra care to tailor these sections to the job with resume keywords, hard skills, and relevant accomplishments.

Additional Work Experience

Company, Location
Job Title (MM/YYYY)-(MM/YYYY)

- If you have work experience that is completely unrelated to your new field post-grad, list it briefly here. Share transferable skills but do not feel the need to go into detail.
