

LA PHARMACIE EN LOUISIANE

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY ALUMNI NEWS

PHARMILY SPOTLIGHT: Carlos Irula, PharmD

Hometown: Originally from Kenner, Louisiana

Education: I graduated from the University of Louisiana at Monroe (ULM) College of Pharmacy in 2014

Work/Business History: Currently, I serve as the Pharmacy Director at the Society of St. Vincent de Paul Charitable Pharmacy of North Texas. Since joining in 2018, I've been dedicated to expanding our reach and impact, ensuring uninsured individuals have access to essential medications. The pharmacy has grown significantly, serving over 8,000 patients and dispensing over 350,000 free prescriptions valued at over $100 million. This growth reflects our commitment to addressing the critical need for medication access among uninsured individuals in Texas.

Areas of Pharmacy You Are Passionate About: I am passionate about improving medication access for underserved communities and enhancing patient outcomes through collaborative efforts.

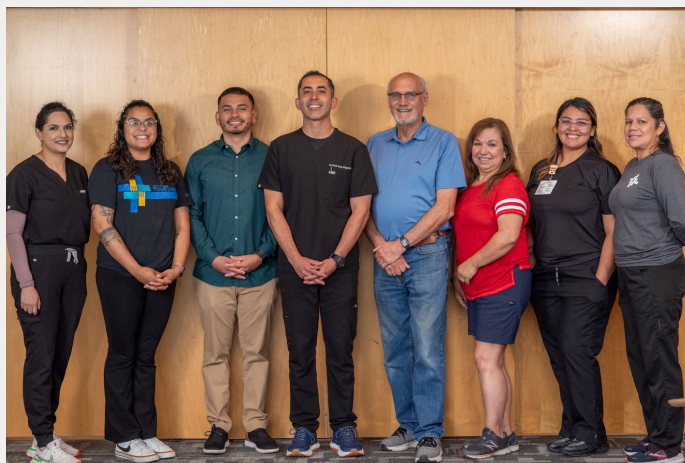

Advice for Those Looking to a Career in Pharmacy:

- Always strive for excellence and be proactive in seeking opportunities to make a positive impact.
- Collaboration and community engagement are key to success in this field.
- Stay curious and keep learning; the field of pharmacy is constantly evolving, and continuous education is crucial.
- Build strong relationships. Effective communication and empathy can significantly enhance patient care and professional growth.
- Don't be afraid to step out of your comfort zone and explore different areas within pharmacy. Diverse experiences can provide valuable insights and open up new opportunities.

Why You Chose ULM/NLU College of Pharmacy: I chose ULM because of its reputation for providing a supportive environment and excellent education. Additionally, ULM's emphasis on community service and involvement resonated with my values and aspirations, making it the perfect place for me to pursue my pharmacy education.

Family: I am grateful for the support of my family, who have been my pillars of strength throughout my career. My wife and I are blessed with 4-year-old twins, who bring immense joy and energy into our lives.

Anything Else You Wish to Share: As a 3rd-year pharmacy student, I participated in a medical mission trip that profoundly shaped my career path. This experience inspired me to pursue missionary work in Honduras as a pharmacist, where I continue to engage in charitable work to this day.

CELEBRATING OUR NEWEST PHARMACY ALUMNI

On Friday, May 16, eighty-six students participated in the College of Pharmacy Senior White Coat Ceremony, a special occasion where graduating students receive their long white coats, are awarded and recognized for their achievements, and are officially welcomed into the pharmacy profession by faculty, mentors, family and friends.

Here are some stats for the ULM PharmD Class of 2025: 31 graduates received Latin honors, having achieved GPAs exceeding 3.5 on a 4.0 scale. Out of those 31 students, 17 graduated cum laude with a 3.5 – 3.749 GPA; Twelve graduated magna cum laude with a 3.75 – 3.89 GPA; Two graduated summa cum laude with a 3.9 – 4.0 GPA; and 1 student graduated with a perfect, 4.0 GPA.

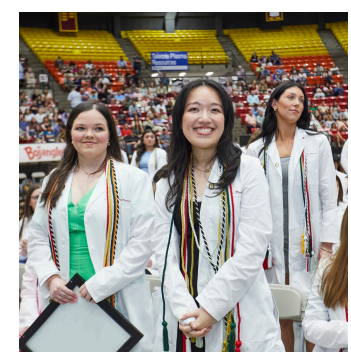

Sixteen graduates will also be pursuing postgraduate residencies or fellowships in medical centers and hospitals across the country including Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas.

Dr. Cain Doucet (PharmD '09) received the Non-Faculty Preceptor of the Year Award and Dr. Bryan Donald, ULM College of Pharmacy Associate Dean for Effectiveness and Strategy, received the Faculty Preceptor of the Year Award.

A special thank you to Walgreens for sponsoring this ceremony and Walgreens representative, Dr. Grant Menard (PharmD '18), for speaking at the event.

ULM Commencement took place on Saturday, May 17 at Fant-Ewing Coliseum and the College of Pharmacy walked in the 1:30 ceremony.

Congratulations to the class of 2025!

ALUMNI NEWS

Aaron Head (Pharm.D. '17) recently changed careers and started working at Professional Arts Pharmacy as a specialty pharmacist. He now gets to work alongside his wife, Chelsie Morein Head (Pharm.D. '17), who works in the retail department. They are excited for this new chapter in their lives and to see what God can do through them through the field of pharmacy!

Robert Cisneros (Pharmacy '74) is enjoying retirement, playing bass in a band, and exercising/trying to stay healthy after a long career of teaching at Campbell University College of Pharmacy & Health Sciences.

Johnny Letlow (Pharmacy '70) retired for good in 2019 and is still living in Start, LA. After a lengthy career at DuPont Pharmaceuticals, he then spent about 10 years working retail as a floater for a number of stores. While he loved it all and stayed licensed in Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas, and Texas for many years, he has let his license expire this year after 54 years.

Carleigh Roberts Farrar (Pharm.D. '20) and family recently welcomed a new baby girl.

Catherine Oliver (Pharm.D. '09) recently had an article, entitled "Implementation of pharmacogenomics: Experience at Ochsner Health," published in the American Journal of Health-System Pharmacy.

Chyna Sical (Pharm.D. '23) has accepted a pediatric ICU/general pediatric clinical pharmacist position at Ochsner Children's after completion of her PGY2.

Ethan Roberts (Pharm.D./MBA '23) has accepted a role as the Manager of Specialty & Home Delivery Operations with Ascension Rx in Austin, TX, upon completion of his PGY1/2 hospital residency this summer.

Taylor Foret (Pharm.D. '23) and Lauren LaForge Foret (Pharm.D. '23) met during pharmacy school at ULM and were married in New Orleans on May 31, 2025.

Zachary Lawrence (Pharm.D. '17) started a new position as Medical Science Liaison at Sanofi.

Meet us in Monroe September 26-27 to celebrate Homecoming! If your class year ends in a "5" you are celebrating a milestone reunion this year. Consider joining with your classmates this weekend to catch up on old times!

Dr. Below Receives Foundation Award for Excellence

The Foundation Award for Excellence in Creative and Innovative Works was awarded to Dr. Jameshia Below, an Assistant Professor in the School of Clinical Sciences in the College of Pharmacy. Dr. Below values the use of innovative teaching methods in her classroom, including employing the use of AI to craft realistic case activities, the use of an “escape room” to help students develop teamwork and solve complex diagnostic problems, the building of computer algorithms, and the use of a game show model. Dr. Below also received the Educational Innovation of the Year Faculty Award from the College of Pharmacy in January 2025.

“Dr. Below is a forward-thinking educator, researcher, and leader whose dedication to advancing pharmacy education has profoundly impacted both students and colleagues. Her ability to integrate emerging technologies, innovative teaching methods, and student-centered learning strategies has redefined classroom engagement, ensuring that pharmacy graduates are well prepared for the evolving healthcare landscape,” said Dr. Glenn Anderson, Dean of the ULM College of Pharmacy.

ULM’s Foundation Awards for Excellence was held on Friday, May 2, at Bayou Pointe Event Center.

Interim President Dr. Nick Bruno and Dr. Jameshia Below (PharmD '16)

ULM Welcomes New President

The University of Louisiana System Board of Supervisors has named Carrie Castille, Ph.D., the tenth president of The University of Louisiana Monroe. Castille is the first female president in the university’s nearly 94-year history.

“I am incredibly honored and grateful to be named the tenth president of this incredible institution,” said Castille. “I believe that great days are ahead for The University of Louisiana Monroe. I look forward to working hard alongside the faculty, staff, and community to provide the best education, experience, and opportunities for our students. Go Warhawks!”

Castille’s appointment as president was made after the final round of interviews with the Board of Supervisors in Baton Rouge on Monday, May 19. Following her appointment, Castille reflected on her journey to becoming president. “It’s been an incredible process and an incredible journey. Going through this process, you really learn a lot about yourself and your capabilities. You ask yourself if you can meet the expectations of the role. Then you say, ‘I can do this’ and make the decision and you commit to it,” said Castille.

About Carrie Castille

Carrie Castille most recently served as an Agriculture and Natural Resources Consultant, providing strategic advice on agricultural policy and technical assistance at the national, state, and local levels. She has held significant roles such as Senior Vice-Chancellor and Senior Vice-President at the University of Tennessee, where she led agriculture research and extension programs, and Director of the USDA’s National Institute of Food and Agriculture, overseeing over $1.9 billion in funding for university partnerships. Additionally, she has held leadership positions in the USDA, where she contributed to policy development, crisis management, and economic recovery efforts.

Castille holds a Ph.D. in Renewable Natural Resources from Louisiana State University, with a focus on environmental and public policy. She also holds a Master of Science in Environmental Studies, with an emphasis on environmental policy and toxicology, and a Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering from the University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

Students, Faculty Travel to Utah for APhA Institute on Substance Use Disorders

During the APhA Institute on Substance Use Disorders, students gained valuable insight into the complexities of substance use disorder as a chronic disease. Through interactive sessions and discussions, they developed a deeper understanding of how this condition affects not only individuals but also their families and support systems.

This experience equipped students with the knowledge and empathy needed to engage more meaningfully with patients in their communities who may be struggling with substance use.

In addition to the educational programming, students had the opportunity to explore the beautiful city of Salt Lake City, Utah. "We are truly grateful for this experience, which fostered both personal growth and professional development in our journey as future pharmacists," said student Shelby Whitney.

In attendance: Daniel Soth, Callie Tims, Kaitlyn Le, Katie Martin, Shelby Estess, Shelby Whitney, Dr. Stephen Hill, and Dr. Kristen Hill

PHARMACY NEWS

Pharmacy students and pharmacists attend Pharmacy Advocacy Day in Baton Rouge.

Pharmacy Legislative Day - May 1, 2025. Pharmacy students and other Louisiana pharmacists spent the day at the Capitol advocating for the pharmacy profession.

College of Pharmacy hosts summer recruitment events

PharmJR

June 4, 2025: The ULM College of Pharmacy hosted a Summer PharmJR. 30 junior high students (7th and 8th grade) attended and learned about the field of pharmacy by participating in fun, pharmacy-related activities and hearing from guest speakers.

The event is offered a couple of times a year.

PharmFUTURE

June 5, 2025: The ULM College of Pharmacy hosted a group of 55 high school and college students, as well as parents, for its Summer PharmFUTURE recruitment event. This event allows students interested in pharmacy to visit the college and learn about pharmacy careers. The students get to spend time working in the lab, mock pharmacy and IV room, as well as hear from current pharmacy students and faculty.

The event is offered several times a year and open to any high school junior, high school senior, or college student interested in healthcare.

AHEC - Shreveport

June 9, 2025: The ULM College of Pharmacy participated in the Area Health Education Center (AHEC) Bossier program for educating students about career choices in healthcare. Approximately 130 students got to explore the field of pharmacy through different activities, such as compounding in a pharmacy lab and a pharmacy escape room. The event took place at Willis Knighton Medical Center.

AHEC - Monroe

June 12, 2025: The ULM College of Pharmacy hosted 60 local AHEC students at the College of Pharmacy in Monroe. These students had a similar experience, getting to work in the lab, participate in fun activities, and hear from faculty and students, as well as the Toxicology Department, to learn more about pharmacy.

PHARMACY NEWS

Dr. Paul Sylvester to Retire

Dr. Paul Sylvester will retire from the College and School of Basic, Pharmaceutical and Toxicological Sciences (BPTS) effective June 30. He has served as a Professor in BPTS, the Director for Graduate Studies, and Associate Dean for Research during his tenure at ULM. He was recently given professor emeritus status at the 2025 ULM Foundation Awards for Excellence held on Friday, May 2.

Dr. Sylvester is an endocrinologist and his research interests have focused on endocrine-dependent diseases, particularly breast cancer. Dr. Sylvester's laboratory examines the mechanisms mediating the antiproliferative and apoptotic effects of tocotrienols, a rare natural form of vitamin E, in breast cancer cells.

Last Fall, he established the Paul W. Sylvester Louisiana Cancer Foundation (LCF) Endowed Scholarship. This scholarship was funded by private donations and with assistance from the Louisiana Cancer Foundation to support Dr. Sylvester's cancer research conducted in the ULM College of Pharmacy. Best of luck in your retirement, Dr. Sylvester!

SNPhA Student Group Celebrates Transformative Year

By ULM Office of Marketing and Communications

MONROE, LA – The University of Louisiana Monroe (ULM) College of Pharmacy is proud to announce the continued success of its Student National Pharmaceutical Association (SNPhA) chapter, which capped off the 2024–2025 academic year with national accolades, impactful community service, and strong student leadership.

The 2024-2025 academic year kicked off with the ULM SNPhA chapter taking home first place honors for both the National Scrapbook Award as well as the 2024 Rite Aid Chapter Excellence Award (Large Chapter Division) at the 2024 SNPhA/NPhA National Conference in Los Angeles in August 2024.

The ULM chapter also earned second-place honors nationally for their “Bridging the Gap” and “LMBI” initiatives, as well as third-place honors for their “Keepsake” initiative.

ULM Pharmacy students also excelled individually. Josh Morehead was appointed the 2024-2025 SNPhA National LMBI Head Chair and received the Elysia Ross Book Award. KeAnna Kimble was appointed the 2024-2025 SNPhA National Bridging the Gap Head Chair and awarded a Kroger Endowed Scholarship. Additionally, Angelle Boudreaux authored and passed two national resolutions.

Dr. Alexis Horace is a professor in the ULM College of Pharmacy and is one of the faculty advisors for ULM SNPhA. “Watching our SNPhA students grow into leaders, advocates, and changemakers has been one of the most rewarding parts of my career. Their passion for serving underserved communities and their tireless commitment to excellence inspire all of us to dream bigger and do better. They are the future of pharmacy, and that future looks incredibly bright,” said Horace.

Throughout the year, ULM SNPhA hosted more than 38 events, including Pharmtober Fest, which impacted over 400 community members and received local media coverage. The chapter's focus on underserved populations reflects its mission to address health disparities through education, access, and service.

Involvement in SNPhA provides ULM student-pharmacists with hands-on opportunities to engage in public health outreach, build leadership capacity, and contribute meaningfully to communities in need. Their work this year exemplifies the role student-pharmacists play in advancing health equity while developing as future healthcare professionals.

The ULM SNPhA chapter attributes its success to the dedication of every student-pharmacist who participates in the association, to past-president Hannah McDaniel for her leadership, and to the guidance of SNPhA faculty advisors Dr. Keith Jackson, Dr. Jameshia Below, and Dr. Alexis Horace.
